

Assessing Community Readiness for Asset Building: Part I

	Yes	No	I don't know
1. Is there a history of commitment to children and youth in your community?
2. Is there a history of successful collaboration and/or community-wide action?
3. Are there other community-wide issues, initiatives, or efforts that will vie for citizens' time and energy?
4. Are a variety of sectors involved in assessing the feasibility of an asset-building initiative?
5. Are young people actively involved in launching an asset-building initiative?
6. Have you and your fellow asset champions worked to create a shared vision for your community?
7. Are the people and organizations involved passionate and excited about the Developmental Assets framework?
8. Are the individuals and organizations involved becoming empowered to build assets for and with young people?
9. Do the people involved represent the diversity of your community (in terms of age, ethnicity, gender, income, religious beliefs, and so on)?
10. Are the people involved beginning to use the language of Developmental Assets without being prompted to do so?
11. Have you addressed issues of inclusiveness and diversity?
12. Do you have access to funding or other financial support?
13. Do you sense that your community is ready to rally together behind your children and youth?

This worksheet may be reproduced for educational, noncommercial uses only (with this copyright line). From The Journey of Community Change: A How-to Guide for Healthy Communities • Healthy Youth Initiatives. Copyright © 2005 by Search Institute, Minneapolis, Minnesota; 800-888-7828; www.search-institute.org. Search InstituteSM and Developmental AssetsTM are trademarks, and Healthy Communities • Healthy Youth[®] is a registered trademark of Search Institute.